Figure 4. 1936 aerial photograph (from the Fairchild Aerial photography collection) showing the clear 1857 (and earlier) rupture traces at the Bidart Fan. The tan overlay shows the areas of recently active alluvial fan deposition. Numbered trench locations are from Grant and Sieh, 1994. Lettered trenches are those proposed in this study. Trench C’s location will be determined after examining the record from A and B.